HOUSE VOTES
TRUST FUNDS
FOR VETERANSSTATE SOLONS PASS
7 BILLS WITHOUT OPPOSITION

Lansing, Feb. 14 (AP)—The House today approved without opposition the creation of a $50,000,000 veterans' trust fund, major item on Governor Kelly's program for the special legislative session.

The bill was passed 82 to 0 after Rep. Peter J. Kelly, Detroit Democrat, sought unsuccessfully to have $20,000,000 set aside as a revolving fund for loans to needy veterans.

Seven measures were passed by the representatives, all of them without an opposing vote.

Included was a $6,400,000 appropriation for supplemental school aid which originated in the Senate and now awaits only Governor Kelly's signature.

State Fair Item Restored

The House restored to a bill reorganizing the state fair board all administration provisions which had been eliminated by the Senate. As passed by the lower chamber, the measure placed administration of the fair under the director of agriculture and an advisory board and provided for employment of a state fair manager.

House leaders said the measure probably will go to a conference committee of both chambers.

Backing down on its action yesterday, the Senate accepted the House-inspired postwar victory building committee to pass on expenditure of appropriations for various state institutions and sent to the chief executive a measure appropriating $3,300,000 for the University of Michigan, $3,000,000 for Michigan State College and $5,700,000 for an emergency hospital building program.

Other bills approved by the House liberalized state provisions under which GI loans could be secured; provided that veterans may retain state license privileges granted before they entered service, called for reinsurance of concentrated state fire risks with private firms; and authorized counties to set up programs for adult education.

Obligation Not Discharged

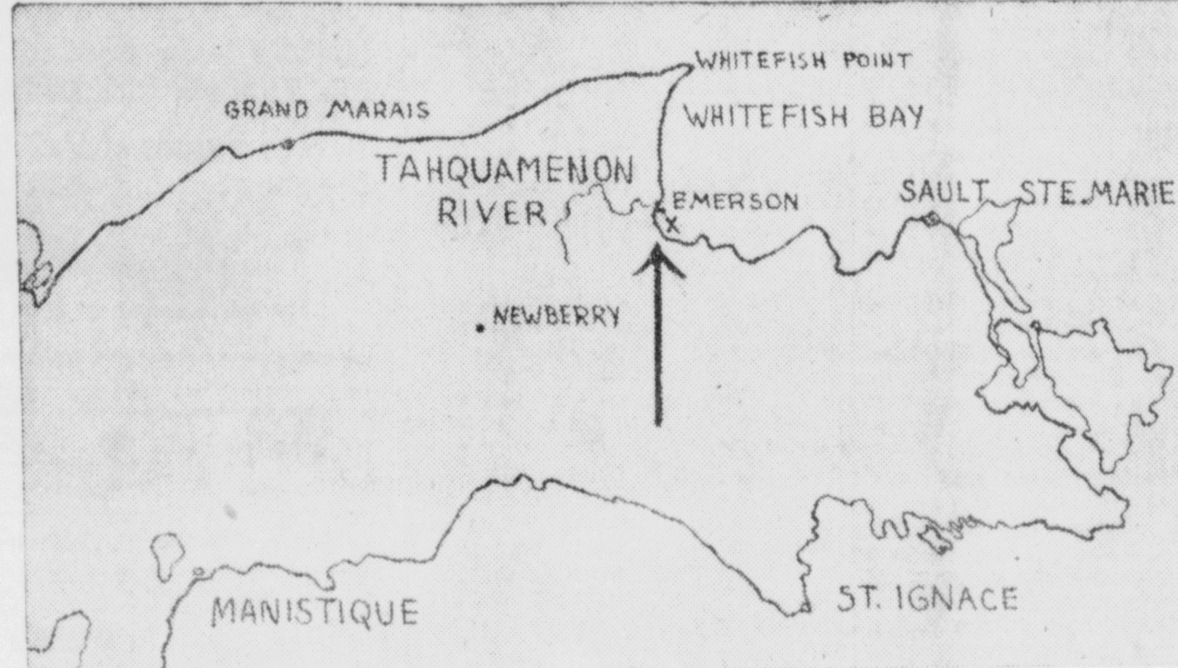

Rep. Kelly's proposed amendment to the veterans trust fund drew from Rep. Howard R. Estes, Birmingham Republican, the comment that "this would defeat the purpose of the bill." Rep. Tracy M. Doll of Detroit, sponsor of a resolution to pay a state veterans bonus, declared he could vote for the trust fund "only after I had been assured by the governor that this is an emergency relief fund to care for the veteran in need and does not discharge the obligation of the state to its veterans."

A concurrent resolution asking that Governor Kelly within six weeks to four months find the office of Ionia county probate judge vacant and appoint a successor to the incumbent, who has been committed to the Kalamazoo state hospital, passed the House and was sent to the Senate. Removal of the present judge would depend on state medical authorities finding him unable to perform his duties within the time specified, the resolution provided.

A bill introduced by Rep. Albert J. Zak of Hamtramck provided that board of education may use city registration records for elections if the school district and city boundaries coincide.

"Right Man" Hunted
To Fill Ickes Shoes

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Truman started hunting today for the "right man" to run the Interior Department while the capital still shook from the blast of Secretary Ickes' dynamite-charged resignation.

Mr. Truman went over a list of possible successors in separate conferences with several western Congressmen. He was reported to be looking for one with sufficient stature to take some of the sting out of Ickes' abrupt, smothering departure.

Senator O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat was one White House visitor. He has been mentioned as a prospect. Several Senate colleagues named factors which they said point to O'Mahoney as the leading possibility.

Ickes set off a political earthquake when he quit yesterday with a declaration that he could not "retain my self respect and stay in the cabinet of President Truman." He said he did not care to stay in an administration "where I'm expected to commit perjury for the sake of a party."

His spectacular exit from a post he has held 13 years grew directly from Mr. Truman's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, to be undersecretary of the navy.

There was no question that the President had on his hands one of the hottest political problems of the day.

Other bills approved by the House liberalized state provisions under which GI loans could be secured; provided that veterans may retain state license privileges granted before they entered service, called for reinsurance of concentrated state fire risks with private firms; and authorized counties to set up programs for adult education.

Forrestal Says Fleets
Would Head Off Atom
Bomb Attacks

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Navy outlined to Congress today a proposed system of 53 overseas bases from which, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said, carrier-paced fleets could make it "very difficult" for an enemy to attack this country with atomic bombs. Secretary Forrestal asserted that the country must be ready for "immediate advancement of our forward lines" from those bases, to head off any atomic bomb or robot missile threat.

The Navy secretary led a procession of Admirals before the Senate Naval affairs committee in support of a post-war navy of 319 active combat ships, an aerial striking force of 3,731 planes and a complement of 500,000 enlisted men and 58,000 officers.

Forrestal and Fleet Admiral Nimitz, the chief of Naval operations, stressed the need for advanced bases, of which the Navy said it wants 33 in the Pacific and 20 in the Atlantic.

ARGENTINA HITS
AT U. S. SPYING

Charges Of Dealing With
Nazis Denied; Election
Propaganda Alleged

Buenos Aires, Feb. 14 (AP)—Foreign Minister Juan I. Cooke tonight denied for himself and President Edelmiro Farrell U. S. State Department charges that members of the Argentine government had dealt with the Nazis.

Cooke, in the first official comment, said in a radio address that the State Department's blue book to how Ickes' resignation would affect the Pauley nomination.

White House officials said Mr. Truman hoped to determine by the end of the week who will move in. (Until a permanent appointment is made, Oscar L. Chapman will be acting secretary.)

Earlier in the day Col. Juan D. Peron, former vice president and a candidate for the presidency, asserted in a published statement that Spruille Braden was "chief of a vast spy network" throughout South America while he served as U. S. ambassador to Argentina and that a former U. S. military attaché had been expelled from Argentina for espionage.

Peron, in his statement, also charged that Braden while ambassador collected money from Argentine firms under the threat of blacklisting them.

His statement, published in the newspaper La Epoca which is supporting his candidacy, flatly denied the blue book charges that Peron conspired to aid the Nazis and demanded that the United States give proof of its charges.

In his statement Peron said that Brig. Gen. John Lang, former military attaché at the U. S. embassy here "had to be expelled for proven espionage against Argentina and other friendly countries."

BUSY TUGBOATS BRINGS SUPPLIES

New York Fleet Is Given Back To Owners By Government

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—The government returned to owners today the New York fleet of 400 tugboats and the little vessels churning the harbor bringing in barges and ships loaded with vital fuel supplies.

The 10-day strike by 3,500 tugboatmen emphasized the part the inconspicuous tugboats played in New Yorkers' lives when Mayor William O'Dwyer ordered a state of emergency. The government seized the tugboats, and normal business, schools and many public buildings, were closed for 18 hours Tuesday with room temperatures cut to 60 degrees.

A wages and hours dispute, which precipitated the strike on Feb. 4, was submitted to arbitration, but there still were some hangover effects of the walkout.

Laurence C. Turner, Office of Defense Transportation representative who seized the tugboats under presidential order on Feb. 6, turned the vessels back to their owners, but said the seizure order still was in effect.

Albert Pleydell, city fuel administrator, tonight announced the lifting of fuel oil rationing, but said restrictions on coal would continue.

Munising News

Aleutian Lecturer Pleases Audience

Munising—Simeon Oliver (Nutchuk), Aleutian lecturer and musician, appeared before an enthusiastic audience at Mather high Tuesday morning. His story of his youth in the Aleutians was interspersed with first-hand accounts of the outstanding industries of the islands which are still his home. Mr. Oliver concluded his program on the lyeum number with three piano selections which showed his remarkable skill as a musician and arranger.

Following his talk, Mrs. Oliver, who accompanied her husband here and is a native American, spoke to the children in the junior grades on her experiences, of 25 years living in the Aleutians, telling the children of the daily life of the Eskimos. Both Mr. and Mrs. Oliver will spend the next year in the Aleutians establishing a new school there, and Nutchuk is already engaged for another American lecture tour the following year.

CAPT. WHITTAKER COMING

Munising — "We Thought We Heard the Angels Sing," a highly inspirational story, will be told here by Captain James C. Whittaker, who was lost on the Pacific ocean for 22 days with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker.

He will appear here sometime in May is the assurance Principal R. W. Jackson has from the school assembly service, who send to the high schools the special assembly numbers such as the lecture by Nutchuk last Tuesday.

JOHN KUJA

The funeral of John Kujala of Treenary will be held at 1 p. m. Friday at the Treenary Methodist church, with the Rev. Onni Koski of Marquette officiating. Burial will be at Treenary. Pallbearers will be: Emil Latvala, Toivo Maki, Charles Maki, John Hill, John Forsberg and Matt Rama.

MUNISING BRIEFS

The C. Y. O. will sponsor a bake sale at the Madigan Hardware Saturday, Feb. 16, between the hours of 11 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Richard Erickson was discharged from the Seabees in the past week and has returned here to reside with his wife and family at 502 West Superior street.

Charles R. Jackson returned to Munising on Wednesday after two years service in the Navy. He spent most of the two years on the U. S. hospital ship Samaritan.

Mrs. Mae Matson has gone to Hollywood, Calif., to reside with her daughter, Betty, who has been employed there for the past several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ouellette will leave today for Houghton where the latter will receive medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Lehigh are the parents of a daughter, born Feb. 9, in St. Luke's hospital, Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haines of Escanaba are the parents of a son, David Allen, born Jan. 30. Mrs. Haines is the former Nola Carrier of Au Train.

JUMPY AND BUMPY—Marvin Cartwright and Jimmy Cretens delighted the Ice Circus crowd last night with their comedy act. The annual skating revue, which opened Thursday, will continue until Sunday.

Lower Michigan Traffic Tied Up In Snow Storm

One of the worst snow storms to strike Michigan in many years left most of the state under a heavy blanket of snow and many cities crippled by traffic tieups.

Winds, mounting to 40 miles per hour, caused snow drifts which virtually stopped all traffic on highways and side roads for several hours. Highways were reported cleared, but most side roads were still impassable.

A record snowfall hit Greenville, which recorded 14 inches. It was the worst snowstorm there in 30 years. Almost all rural schools were closed.

Other cities which recorded heavy snowfalls were Ionia, eight inches; Traverse City, 10 inches; Grand Rapids, 10 inches; Saginaw and Cadillac, six inches each; Muskegon, five inches; Flint, four inches, and Battle Creek, three inches.

The weather bureau held out a ray of hope that the worst of the storm was over, predicting only snow flurries. Colder weather was forecast, with temperatures going down zero to ten below for Upper Michigan and to 13 degrees for the Detroit area.

Train service was back to normal again and bus lines said that all schedules were operating, although busses from Lansing, Grand Rapids and Bay City were running from one half hour to an hour behind schedule.

In Grand Rapids, City Manager Walter H. Sack called an emergency meeting of city officials to discuss snow removal problems. Sack termed the traffic situation the worst since 1936. Every available source was called out to help shovel snow in the downtown area. The city offered shovels 90 cents an hour.

In the Greenville area, almost all rural schools were closed. In Ionia highway officials said it would be two or three days before all roads would be open again.

Trucks and cars stalled on US-12 between St. Joseph and Coloma numbered 200, Berrien county sheriff's office reported. The Niles area reported that only trunk line highways were passable as the result of a six inch snowfall.

At Midland, workers at the Dow Chemical company plant abandoned their cars and walked to work as a few cars stalled on the roads leading to the plant caused all traffic to stop.

Frankenstein Plans To Leave UAW Post

Detroit, Feb. 14 (AP)—Richard T. Frankenstein, international vice-president of the CIO United Auto Workers, announced today he would not seek re-election at the UAW national convention in Atlantic City next month.

Frankenstein said he had conveyed this information to UAW officials shortly after the first of the year, but that he had delayed public announcement pending partial settlement of the UAW's wage demands on the auto industry.

The 39-year old labor leader said CIO President Philip Murray had offered him the post of representative of that organization at the World Trade Union Congress, but added that he still was undecided as to "what my future work will be." UAW-CIO President R. J. Thomas said he had been informed of Murray's offer.

Senate Looks Into Grand Jury Expense In Corruption Quiz

Lansing, Feb. 14 (AP)—The senate today ordered an investigation of the Ingham county grand jury's expenditures from a $442,000 state grant for what proved to be a sensational inquiry into charges of official corruption.

Adopting a resolution by Senator Frank Heath, Bay City Republican, the senate created an investigation committee composed of Senator Ivan A. Johnston, Mt. Clemens Republican, Chairman, Senator Harold D. Tripp, Allegan Republican, and Robert J. McDonald, Flint Democrat.

Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler of the grand jury, fresh from losing his first trial resulting from the grand jury—the McKay inquiry conspiracy trial—greeted the senate's action with the statement: "It's natural at this time to expect some new opposition. We've had that sort of thing from the beginning of the grand jury. There are certain people right now who would like to know what we are doing and going to do—to find out what we are working on. If they had been working at this time they could find out. When we are through there will be an accounting of every dime."

Earthquake Fatal To 267 In Algeria

Paris, Feb. 4 (AP)—At least 276 persons were killed and 70 injured in an earthquake that shook the mountainous region of North-western Algeria, and rescue workers were still digging in debris of fallen buildings for additional victims, advices from Algeria said tonight.

The casualty count came from the towns of Setif and Batna in Constantine, northeasternmost department in Algeria. Setif is 150 miles and Batna 200 miles south-east of Algiers.

Algiers reports said that doctors and medical aid were being rushed by muleback over landslide-cut mountain trails to the stricken villages, and that the first doctors and nurses were already on the scene.

Harriman Resigns; New Ambassador To Russia Named

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Truman announced tonight that he had accepted the resignation of Averell Harriman as ambassador to Russia and named Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith as his successor.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who made public the president's announcement, said that legislation would be asked tomorrow to permit Smith to take the post without affecting his military status. The nomination will be formally submitted later.

Smith served as chief of staff for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Europe.

Telephone Strike Delayed By Union

Detroit, Feb. 14 (AP)—Threat of an immediate state-wide telephone strike was removed today as the Michigan Federation of Telephone Workers agreed not to strike before the next negotiation session scheduled for Feb. 25.

Robert Lomasney, of the state labor mediation board, and Arthur C. Viat of the federal conciliation service announced that the two sessions brought the union and the company closer together, but no formal agreement had been reached.

Representatives of the Michigan unions were preparing to leave for a national federation of telephone workers in Memphis, beginning on Sunday.

The original White House was the first government building completed in Washington.

McKAY GRAFT TRIAL ENDED IN ACQUITTAL

people in the half-filled courtroom crowded around to congratulate them.

McKay issued a prepared statement declaring he hoped "this is the end of my political persecution."

The statement said he regarded his acquittal as "more than a vindication of myself. It is reflection of the judicial integrity and courage of Judge Simpson, and should be reassuring to all people to know that our courts can still dispense justice unhampered by the subtle influences that were aligned against me."

The judge dismissed two of the 14 jurors, and directed them to "rise and return a verdict of not guilty."

Relieved of the responsibility of deciding the case themselves, the jurors met for a farewell luncheon this noon. They declared they "could not have reached a verdict without long deliberation," but issued a joint statement in which they suggested "some new law" might be necessary.

Signed collectively the statement read: "We, the jury, believe in a representative government for the benefit of the people, by the people and for the people, and not for the special interest of a few."

"If our laws are not broad enough for the interpretation to be made to protect the rights of the people we feel some action should be taken."

They agreed they "would have had great difficulty in arriving at a verdict and we might have had some disagreement."

Most nodded in assent when Mrs. Alice Musolf of Liberty and Forrest Miller of Henrietta declared "the state shouldn't be in the liquor business anyway."

Mrs. Kathleen McCurdy of Grass Lake said "I felt the same way the judge did, the state's case was too weak," but added "there were too many objections—we'd have got more evidence if we'd had the chance."

Clarence Pulver of Blackman said he didn't think "the judge could have done anything different. In view of the evidence. However, I do not think they were entirely blameless."

Fred A. Fletcher of Jackson said "Judge Simpson was right, but there were a lot of things that were not explained."

Wolverine Quintet Out For Sixth Win In Big Ten Games

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 14. (AP)—Gunning for an even break in a dozen Big Ten games, Michigan's Wolverines close out their 1945-46 conference basketball season here tomorrow against a University of Chicago quintet which succumbed to Michigan 81 to 23 a month ago.

The Wolverines, thus are top-heavy favorites to hang up their sixth Big Ten win and their 11th victory in 18 games against all comers. Not since the season of 1939-40 has a Michigan team finished with a 500 mark in the Big Ten cage race. A year ago the Wolverines won five conference games and lost seven.

ENLISTMENTS IN NAVY ARE OPEN

Recruiter In Escanaba
Friday, February 22
For Interviews

L. K. Sprinkel, Chief Gunner's Mate, U. S. Navy, recently appointed the Recruiter in Charge, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Marquette, Michigan, recently announced that the Navy has revised their re-enlistment program so that a man discharged from the U. S. Naval Reserve or from the regular Navy may now enlist in the regular Navy in the rating in which he was discharged. In effect this will mean that any man enlisting in the regular Navy within ninety days of the date of his discharge will retain his old rating together with all pay allowances to which he was entitled on the date of his separation.

However this program will last, under present policies, only until May 20, 1946. Therefore, after February 19, 1946, the time in which a man will have to effect his enlistment will diminish. As an incentive to complete his enlistment with thirty days from the date of separation each man will be granted thirty days leave. This leave will not count as annual leave and every man will be entitled to an additional thirty days leave within a year. Men taking advantage of the enlistment opportunity after thirty days but before ninety days will not be granted leave and will be transferred to the nearest receiving ship or station for assignment. A re-enlistment bonus of fifty dollars for each year of active duty will be granted to all men re-enlisting.

Every man whether re-enlisting or coming into the Navy for the first time will be entitled to all benefits of the "G. I. Bill" providing his enlistment is in effect before October 1946.

At no time in the past history of the Navy has the opportunity for schooling and advancement been as great as it is today. From a force of 100,000 men on December 7, 1941 the Navy grew to the astounding size of 3,500,000 men. The size of the permanent Naval force has now been set at 500,000 men. This force must do the same overall job of the wartime Navy. Men must be trained in the various Naval skills to do this job effectively. All the bases acquired during the war must be manned and supplied; national security must be maintained; thus any man coming into the Navy today will have unlimited advantages of education and travel.

A representative will meet all men interested in the NAVY, those who desire an active part as well as those men desiring to enlist in the inactive reserve in order to retain their Naval connections. On Friday 22nd of February he will be stationed at the Post Office Building room 318 from 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm, in Escanaba.

Oscar L. Chapman Acting Secretary Of Interior Dep't

Oscar L. Chapman, who takes over the affairs of the department of interior as acting secretary with the resignation of Harold L. Ickes, is a 49-year-old Coloradoan, long identified politically as a liberal.

His first wife, who died a few years ago, was a sister of the late Mrs. C. Albert Lund, wife of the retired pastor of the Bethany Ev. Lutheran church in Escanaba.

Chapman has been an assistant interior secretary 13 years. A native of Omega, Halifax county, Virginia, he served in the Navy in World War I and went to Denver to recuperate after being invalided out of service. He has long been identified with Colorado politics.

In the last Roosevelt presidential campaign, Chapman served as his campaign manager in western states. In the last Democratic national convention, Chapman led the Colorado delegation in its support of Henry A. Wallace for the vice presidential nomination. President Truman won the nomination.

Chapman is regarded as close to retiring Secretary Ickes.

If I Can't Relieve Your

RHEUMATIC - ARTHRITIC PAINS"

says Paul Case

That's how I run my business. If I don't help you, I don't want a penny of your money. But I believe I can help you.

My Combination Method has brought blessed relief to thousands who were suffering the tortures of rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, etc. The chance is that I can bring you the same glorious relief. If I can't I don't want a penny from you.

Formula 1 is for the palliative relief of pain and contains a standard ingredient widely prescribed by most physicians for this purpose. This ingredient, together with 3 others are quickly absorbed into the blood stream and relieve pain, no matter where it may be—in joints, muscles, nerve sheaths.

Formula 2 contains standard ingredients for the relief of excess stomach acidity and to help keep your bowels open—a valuable extra help.

If you are suffering from those aches and pains, usually associated with rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, etc., I urge you to clip and mail the coupon today—right now!

You need not send money—just as soon as I receive your order, I'll ship it parcel post. When the postman delivers the package containing both formulas, pay him $2.00 plus postage and C.O.D. charges. If you send check or money order, with the order I'll pay all postage charges.

Remember, if you aren't helped within 10 days after taking my medicine, according to directions on the package, I'll refund every penny you paid. Clip the coupon now.

Adequate Food In U. S.

ALTHOUGH a considerable portion of the world's peoples will be on starvation rations in 1946, the people of America will not go hungry and the nutritive value of food available in this country during the year will be equal to that of 1945.

This prediction from the U. S. Department of Agriculture is reassuring to the American people and should be sufficient evidence in itself to forestall food hoarding, which characterized the early years of the war.

Food rations in this country will be more than adequate, actually abundant in some categories, but the agricultural officials point out that food supplies will not equal the tremendous American buying power. This means, of course, that while there will be ample food to keep all the demands created by a nation with swollen pocketbooks.

The American people on the whole are eating better today than ever before in the nation's history. This is the natural result of increased purchasing power created by wartime production.

There will be scarcities of some items, particularly sugar and butter, but in general the American people will find a rather generous larder in 1946. It is a situation for which we can be truly grateful, especially when we consider the hardships that so many people of other lands will be forced to endure in the ensuing months.

Ickes Quits

RESIGNATION of Harold L. Ickes as secretary of interior and from other important duties with the federal government was not unexpected, but it created, nevertheless, an unusual furor in the national capital and throughout the country.

It was apparent that Ickes, one of the original members of the New Deal cabinet appointed by the late President Roosevelt, was on his way out when President Truman chose to support Edwin W. Pauley in the controversy over the oil man's nomination for undersecretary of the navy.

Ickes remains steadfast to his sensational statement that Pauley came to him with an offer to raise $300,000 for the Democratic campaign if the government would withdraw its suit against California oil interests. While the outspoken Ickes has made many enemies during his long political career, there is disposition on the part of the public to believe he is honest and straight-forward. The public will be inclined to the belief that Pauley is no longer acceptable for the undersecretaryship, in view of the fact that the navy department has the custodianship of vast government-owned oil reserves. Teapot Dome has not been forgotten yet.

Possibilities for approval of the Pauley nomination by the senate now appear remote. Most Republican members will certainly oppose it, and President Truman will even experience some difficulty in rounding up votes among the unfriendly Southern Democrats.

The Ickes-Truman-Pauley imbroglio is a ready-made political opportunity for the Republicans, who surely will endeavor to exploit it to the utmost. As a result of the incident, a goodly number of liberals and other independent voters will wash their hands of the Democratic party in 1948, provided the Republican party nominates a standard bearer who is at least middle-of-the-road or mildly liberal.

Browder Expelled

EARL BROWDER, who worked for many years for little pay in the vineyard for the Communist party, has been expelled by the unanimous vote of its national committee.

The only explanation announced for public consumption is that the former national chairman has "deserted Communist duties and responsibilities."

A few weeks ago, it was revealed in some of the newspapers that Browder had set himself up in business in New York City. Apparently, he had decided to earn an honest living, and his comrades became suspicious that he had become just another capitalist.

Blaming the Railways

DURING four years of war, the railroads had to take every load and every passenger that they were rightfully expected to haul, and in addition, every load and every passenger that other means of transportation, which included ships, trucks, buses and airplanes, were unable to haul.

This is all past history. The railroads handled the load. But now they are taking a lot of cussing from folks who wouldn't have gotten wherever it was they were going if it hadn't been for the railroads. The public forgets the railroads were denied needed cars and engines before the war ended, and since it ended they have been in getting them, by strikes. To most people the war is over, but the railroads still have to clean up the aftermath of war.

When planes east and west were grounded by bad weather for several days in January, there was indignation on the part of some passengers who had to resort to rail travel, because the railroads could not take care of them in the way they would like to be handled, but apparently there was no resentment toward the airlines for not handling them at all.

It is not necessary, of course, to blame other transportation for failures, but it is unfair to blame the railroads for conditions thrust upon them beyond their control.

National Guard Doubled

OF THE many proposals advanced for strengthening the nation's defense in peacetime, the plan to double the prewar strength of the National Guard will find the most public acclaim.

The National Guard has proved its value to the nation many times over the years and particularly so in World War II. National Guard units were inducted into the regular army of the United States early in the national emergency, more than a full year before Pearl Harbor. Some of the toughest fighting of the war was done by the National Guard troops.

The present plan calls for the enlargement of the National Guard to 622,500 men, more than double the prewar strength. Enlistment in the National Guard is on a volunteer basis and the troops, training in their spare time in their own communities, represent an effective military force that can be called upon for any emergency.

The National Guard program is in harmony with the American principles of democracy. It provides an opportunity for many young men to offer their services in the interest of national defense on a part-time basis in peacetime, without being required to leave their homes for the training program. In times of emergency they are immediately available, fully trained and equipped.

ADULT DELINQUENCY (Marquette Mining Journal)

Hockey, one of the fastest, cleanest games in the sports world, currently is being played in the Palestra, city-owned and operated recreation building, in a smoke-clouded atmosphere which gives the place many characteristics of a madhouse.

In contrast to the superb performance of the youthful players, which every youngster desires to emulate, the vicarious participation of some spectators leaves a great deal to be desired.

There was a time not long ago when the only risk incurred by the average spectator was a 1,000 to 1 chance of being struck by a puck. Those days are but a happy memory.

Although goings on in the Palestra last Friday night were somewhat more riotous than usual, many of the occurrences have become the rule rather than the exception. Following is a partial list of the things that might happen to an unfortunate customer, although the odds run that he will escape with more than one indignity:

1. Have cigar or cigaret ashes dropped on his hat or sprinkled over his coat.
2. Have a lighted cigaret butt dropped down his neck.
3. Be sprayed by spittle.
4. Get hit with a pop bottle.
5. Be struck by a flying body.
6. Be on the receiving end of a misplaced right-cross.
7. Be annoyed by someone who has had three too many.

There also was a time when intermissions were used by some adults for quiet, surreptitious indulgence in spirits. Now bottles are passed openly in the stands in a manner which would make the average home-coming football game look like a Sunday school picnic.

It is not merely a question of comfort and safety of adults, the welfare of children is involved. Whatever inspiration they may receive from watching the game now is more than offset by the influence of their uninhibited elders. Proof that the picture is not being overdrawn is the case of a man who gave a youngster a drink of whiskey.

Steps should be taken to clean up the situation before it becomes worse. It is clear where the responsibility lies. The Palestra is owned by the city, which means the people of Marquette. If it can't be cleaned up, it should be locked up.

In 1945 the average per capita consumption of ice cream was close to nine quarts. And a lot of ours melted before we got it home.

Breakfast should be eaten in silence, says a dietitian. What chance has a husband who stayed late at the office the night before?

Tests have shown the heart to be one of the toughest of human muscles — which does not, however, account for hard-hearted people.

SOME MATTERS OF DISPUTE

Carrollton, Missouri: In grade school I was taught that Sioux is pronounced "soo". Now one of my high school teachers insists on my pronouncing the "x" as, "soox." Am I confused?—M. S.

Answer: Sioux is a French corruption and contraction of the Indian Nadowess, "little snake." The "x" is not pronounced in either French or English. In America, Sioux is correctly pronounced: soo.

Ozark, Alabama: We are having an argument as to the pronunciation of the word "digest." I say "DY-jest," and my friend insists on "di-JEST." Who is right?—Mrs. R. G.

Answer: You are both right. But you should make this distinction: (1) digest, the noun, meaning a compilation of information, or a collection of literary works, as the Reader's Digest, is accented on the first syllable which rhymes with "by, my," thus: DY-jest. (2) The verb, to digest, meaning

Washington—You need not look far to find reasons why it has taken so long to find a wage-price formula that would fit most of industry, and the strikes and get people back to work. If they failed to call in Professor Albert Einstein to help out, it was only because the Professor would probably have been stumped by anything so complicated.

First of all, the personalities involved have not made it easy, repeated differences in the past between John W. Snyder, Reconversion Director, and OPA Administrator Chester Bowles came to a focus in the discussions over the formula.

The two men are utterly unlike. Snyder is cautious and careful, timid even, and prone to postpone unpleasant decisions. Bowles is forthright, aggressive where price control is concerned, and inclined to look with deep suspicion on those who talk about a "Little Price Rise."

—INDUSTRY IS COMPLEX— But quite apart from the personalities involved, the difficulty of finding a formula that could be applied generally, and still leave a price line to be defended, has proved almost insoluble. American industry is unbelievably complicated. The price of steel enters into just about everything that is made in this country.

Complicating the White House problem still further is the question of timing. Actually there are two problems—one for the short-range period of two to four or five years, and the other a long-range problem for the period after the boom that has been generated by government spending during the war.

These two separate and distinct problems keep getting mixed up. What is beneficial in one phase is likely to do harm in the other phase.

Take, for example, the matter of wages. The chief trade-union argument — aside from the fact that everybody wants to get more out of the national pie—is that substantial wage increases are necessary to sustain consumer purchasing power. If millions of people do not have money in their pockets out of wages, they will not be able to buy the products of the machine.

—MUCH PURCHASING POWER— But the fact is that, for the short period, there is a vast excess of purchasing power accumulated out of the war. Industry wants to build new plants. States and cities have accumulated tax money to spend on public works. And individuals want to buy all sorts of new things with money they have saved.

Therefore higher wages at this point are likely to contribute chiefly to higher prices. The problem for the short-range period is not more purchasing power but more goods to satisfy the pent-up demand.

When, however, the first spurt of the war-created boom is over, then the problem of purchasing power will be a real one. Labor's argument will become valid, especially in view of the fact that the productivity of the machine will have greatly increased.

It should be said that a few labor leaders—conspicuously Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers—had another goal. They wanted to get the wage increase without raising prices by compelling management to give to labor a part of the profits that now go to management and owners.

But Reuther's objective called for too much discipline from the trade-union movement in its present stage. He was not backed up by the heads of the CIO, who said that prices were none of their business.

This same difficulty of planning for phase 1 and phase 2 enters into the decisions on foreign loans and foreign spending in this country. Every country in the world wants to buy the goods we have for sale. Some have money to buy with, some have not.

An argument used against the loan to Great Britain is that, when the British use the American dollars they borrow to come over here to buy our goods, they will merely serve to bid up prices on scarce articles. That is not likely to be true if the loan works out as it is hoped it will.

Yet in phase 1, foreign purchases could have just this effect. In phase 2, we are going to need to help supply the world with goods if we are to keep our own economy going at full, or nearly full, production.

The real truth is that the period we are now going through is a part of the war, almost as much a part as the fighting itself. To ignore that truth is to risk an economic defeat which can completely nullify the military victory.

assimilation, as of food or information, is accented on the second syllable, and the "i" is short, as in "digit." Say: di-JEST.

Chicago: In speaking of a professional card player, I say "card sharp." Now I am being corrected: I am told it should be "card-shark." What's the good word, Pancho?—R. M.

Answer: These three terms are about the same: shark, sharp, sharper, "a swindler; a cheating gamester." Shark, however, is the most frequently used, as a card shark, a loan shark.

Q. I am told that the word buffet, a piece of furniture, is pronounced like the verb to buffet. Is that correct?—M. C. M.

Answer: Not in America. Buffet, the sideboard, in American usage, has the "boo" sound of "book," and is accented on the second syllable, thus: boo-FAY. The verb to buffet is pronounced: BUFF-et. (In England, the sideboard, buffet, is called "BUFF-et," but I should strongly advise against the Britishism in this country.)

Oklahoma: Isn't there a law? See this clipping, which states that the "Furniture Company president distributed bogus checks for the employees' Christmas gifts!"—J. H. C.

Answer: The Pied Typer was busy that day. The item should have read "bonus checks."

JANUARY SNAKES—H. O. Brotherton of Escanaba, who is wintering in Richton, Miss., writes to the Daily Press to tell a January snake killing story—and sends along pictures of the snakes to prove the story. The snakes are diamond back rattlers, five feet long, the kind that would make a vacationist in the Upper Peninsula write the whole territory off his list of future places to spend the summer.

Brotherton operates a tourist cottage place on the bay shore south of Escanaba, and hunting and fishing lodges on Whitefish Lake near Gould City, so he would be the first to agree that this comparatively snakeless North country has its advantages. Down at Richton, Miss., Brotherton says, the rattler was shot by a quail hunter named Dudley Moore, after his bird dog had "pointed" the snake — probably saved Moore's life. For the snake struck just as the hunter jumped back, and then coiled ready to strike again.

"The snake was five feet long, fifteen inches around the largest part of the body, had eight rattles, and its fangs were three-quarters of an inch long and as fine as needles. When the mouth of the snake was opened the poison sacks could be seen back of the fangs," Brotherton writes.

WE ARE FORTUNATE—Thinking that perhaps readers might be interested in a treatise on snakes of the Upper Peninsula, we telephoned John Anglim, district conservation supervisor, to ask him what kinds of snakes we have and if any are poisonous. Given time to do a little research John said that he would be able to dig the information out of a book. Pressed to make some comment then and there on the subject of snakes in this part of the country, John exploded.

"What the hell, people in this part of the country don't know anything about snakes—they don't have to!"

IT'S REASSURING —It is true that there are no poisonous snakes in the Upper Peninsula, and the few non-poisonous snakes found here are, with one exception, very unferocious in appearance. The exception is the pine snake, a big fat serpent that grows to a length of five and sometimes six feet, and when cornered can look for all the world like a dangerous creature. It is yellowish tan, with brownish-black markings on the back, lighter on the sides.

When hard pressed the pine snake will coil itself, raise its head high, open its mouth, swell its neck, and hiss. Somehow it also rattles, just how is a mystery because it has no rattles. It will also make a lunging strike with its head. It might possibly bite, because the pine snake is a constrictor and kills rabbits and birds by holding them with its fangs and crushing them with its coiling body.

Range of the pine snake in the Upper Peninsula seems limited to parts of Iron, Dickinson, Menominee and Delta counties. If you happen to meet the pine snake, be reassured. He is non-poisonous and shv, will glide quickly away at the first opportunity.

THERE ARE OTHERS—Herpetologists among column readers are by this time having a frothing fit over this very unscientific treatment accorded the subject of snakes. It will become still more of the common or garden variety of discussion. As John Anglim, points out, we of the Upper Peninsula don't have to know much about snakes.

Now it seems that in addition to the pine snake, we have what is commonly known as the garter snake, the green snake with stripes, the plain green snake, and the pinkish cedar or "cooper" snake. All are small and ineffectual in appearance, and all are as harmless as a bowl of mush. They subsist on frogs, toads, insects, and other staples, with an occasional grounded fledgling for dessert.

It is these innocuous reptiles that cause your great aunt Matilda to scream at picnics, and provide more sensible persons (like little boys) with pets they can carry around in their pockets.

BENEFICIAL—This is purely hearsay, but there is opinion among scientific circles that snakes are friends of man and destroy many harmful bugs and insects. Never having observed the dietary habits of reptiles for any length of time (we once saw one trying to swallow a frog), what they have for dinner remains of principal interest only to another snake.

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, a n d (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone: write as directed.

G. I.—VETERANS SERVICE Q. Our son will be 18 on April 20, 1946. Since he is in his last year of high school, will he be permitted to stay and graduate in June, 1946?

A. A recent Selective Service directive permits students to continue their studies under such circumstances. However, your son must register with his Local Selective Service Board when he is 18 years of age.

Q. Under what conditions are Army Officers now being released from service?

A. Officers with 67 points or 45 months of service as of April 30 will be out of the Army or on board ship on the way home by April 30 and those with 65 points or 42 months of service as of June 30 will be out or on the way home by June 30. Regulations governing discharge of Medical Officers will be announced later.

OF GENERAL INTEREST Q. What wars did England engage in between 1870 and 1914?

A. The Ashantee War of 1837; War with the Zulus in 1879; with Egypt in 1882; Second Argan War, India, 1878-1881; skirmishes about Kharum, 1885; South African (Boer) War, 1899-1902; War with the Berbers, 1898; Boxer uprising in China, 1900.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN Q. Please give directions for making a form to use in pressing a man's necktie.

A. Roll a large rectangle of paper in a cone shape, or cut a cardboard the shape of the tie; the form can be inserted inside the tie, flattened to fit its shape, laid on a smooth ironing board with a slightly damp cloth over it, and pressed.

Q. Are cultivated nuts larger than wild pecans?

A. The cultivated nuts average about 50 to the pound and wild pecans average about 90.

from Richton, Miss., reports that on Jan. 21 a gravel truck driver came in with two diamond back rattlers five feet long. He had shot them out of a land turtle's nest, where they were hibernating.

This report on the snake situation in Mississippi and Michigan is not designed to discourage travel to either place. But it should bring a glow of satisfaction to folks in this section to know that in January our harmless wigglers are frozen stiff, and if you are frightened by serpents it can happen only in mid-summer.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—A congressional committee has now spent most of the winter probing every scrap of evidence regarding Pearl Harbor.

Out of this confusing mass of data, two major points emerge: 1. Congress can pass no legislation which can keep admirals and generals on the alert. That depends solely on them. But congress can pass legislation preventing the airplane industry, the oil companies, and the scrap-iron dealers from building up the power of an enemy and making it

Pearson doubly hard to achieve victory. So far the Pearl Harbor committee has kept absolutely mum about certain airplane and oil companies which — with the paradoxical consent of the U. S. Army and Navy—sold Japan many of the weapons she turned against the army and navy at Pearl Harbor.

2. Nothing has emerged from the Pearl Harbor findings, not hither-to-published in the Roberts report or in this column, which changes the basic responsibility of the commanders who were on the spot.

Unfortunately, congressional cross-examination at times was so slipshod that vitally important facts well known to navy men were ignored or glossed over. Thus the public reads in a hurry, probably has forgotten such basic and amazing instances of neglect as: The fact that warship crews had been permitted shore leave, that water-tight hatches were open, that anti-aircraft guns were unmanned, that no ammunition was readily available; that some guns were even dismantled.

—FBI WARNING— Largely forgotten also is the fact that J. Edgar Hoover's G-men picked up a message between Tokyo and the Jap Honolulu Consulate on Dec. 6 which the FBI considered a sure sign of war, but which both General Short and Admiral Kimmel completely ignored.

Cross-examined before Congress, the two commanders complained that Washington didn't warn them during the last few hours before the attack; but no one on the committee bothered to ask why they were so concerned about a Washington warning when they paid no attention to one received from the FBI on the spot.

Most significant fact which the Pearl Harbor probes glossed over, however, was torpedo nets. Had this very elementary precaution been taken, hundreds of lives would have been saved and the backbone of the Pacific fleet would not have been left lying on the muddy bottom at Pearl Harbor.

Ninety-five percent of the damage inflicted by the Japs was from underwater torpedoes. Only two U. S. vessels were seriously damaged by bombs dropped from Jap planes—the West Virginia and the Tennessee. The others were all sunk or crippled by torpedoes.

Even the West Virginia and the Tennessee actually were not put out of commission by aerial bombs. One heavy bomb struck the West Virginia amidships, but the deck armor was only dented, and, had it not been for a torpedo, the ship would have continued in operation.

The Tennessee received a bomb hit in its No. 3 turret but was not put out of action and continued fighting all during the attack. Even the Arizona, supposedly sunk by a bomb which fell down the funnel, was more likely finished off by a series of torpedo hits in her forward magazine. For battleships are so built that even a bomb that explodes the boilers will not detonate the magazine.

In other words, most of Pearl Harbor's tragic damage could have been avoided by the simple expedient of having torpedo nets in place. This, however, was largely ignored by the Pearl Harbor probes.

—NAVY'S ALIBI— Some admirals have tried to alibi by claiming that torpedo nets would not have prevented the damage. They forget, however, their own secret plans in 1943 to run a battleship of the Maryland class into Jap home waters during the night, hanging torpedo nets around it and then using the ship as a base to bombard a Japanese airfield.

The admirals were fully convinced at that time that such a ship would not suffer severe damage if protected by torpedo nets. This was forgotten, however, during Pearl Harbor testimony.

Also forgotten was the fact that the Japs were the first to use aerial torpedoes in shallow water. The navy knew this long before Pearl Harbor. They also knew how the British had crippled the Italian fleet with aerial torpedoes at Taranto. Yet, despite the Nov. 27 warning from Washington that war could be expected at any time, and despite the Dec. 6 warning given by the FBI on the spot at Honolulu, Dec. 7 caught the United States fleet absolutely naked as far as torpedo nets were concerned.

If this one elementary safety precaution had been taken, any minor damage inflicted by aerial bombs could have been repaired in a few weeks and a major part of the fleet could have sailed to help U. S. troops on Bataan and to check Japan's swift southward drive which almost took Australia and India.

It would be difficult to estimate how many American, British and Dutch lives would have been saved had these simple safety precautions been taken at Pearl Harbor, or how many months would have been lopped off the total length of the war.

Despite all the confusing testimony placed before congress, and despite certain last-minute Washington failures to send final warnings to Honolulu, the above error remains the most important cause of the tragedy at Pearl Harbor.

One thing certain not to come to those who wait is the time they lose.

Nice to think about, anyway — one of those old-time "for rent" epidemics that made landlords love children.

INDUSTRY GIVES TO RED CROSS

Fund Campaign Receives Generous Support In City And County

Thaxter Shaw, Red Cross treasurer, yesterday reported that several contributions from the industrial division of the 1946 drive have been received, and that he expected the division would complete making their contributions by the end of this month.

Delta county's quota in the 1946 drive is $25,000 and a large part has always been subscribed by the county's industries. The quota for industry has been established at $7,000, Shaw said.

Early contributions to this year's fund indicate that the generous support the Red Cross has received from everyone in Delta county in past years will again be sustained in this fund raising drive.

Township Chairman John LaMotte reports that various township chairmen throughout the county have their solicitors selected and are ready to conduct the drive beginning the first of March.

Gladstone, under the direction of General Chairman John Voght, is rapidly completing its organization to raise the city's quota share of $4,567.60, some of which has already been received from industry and credited to Gladstone's quota.

In the Escanaba residential section, Loren Jenkins, chairman, reports that details of the solicitation in his division are about completed and every home in the city will be canvassed by fully informed solicitors whose work will be facilitated by strict adherence to the system of solicitation established.

Bruce Brackett, chairman of the Escanaba business division, reports that business places are already making their contributions and he expects to be able to complete his business canvass in two days. His workers have small areas to cover and have already done considerable contact work prior to receiving contributions.

From early indications the Red Cross will "carry on" through generous public support of everyone in Delta county, the committee reported.

Many Scouts Advanced In Rank; Others Get Merit Badges

The assembly room at the Gladstone senior high school was packed with between 250 and 300 persons Wednesday evening as Boy Scouts of Red Buck district received awards which they had earned in recent months of Scouting.

Many Scouts were granted recognition in rank while 24 others were awarded merit badges which they had earned. Highlight of the rank recognition was the awarding of the Eagle badge to David Engstrom, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. V. S. Engstrom. The presentation was made by Clarence Zerbel, Escanaba, and the coveted award, the highest in Scouting, was pinned on the youth's blouse by his proud mother, Harold Mackie, Scoutmaster of Troop 466, stood beside David, Jim Moran of Troop 453, Escanaba, who received his Eagle award Monday, was also recognized.

Following an invocation by Rev. Clifford Peterson, James T. Jones, past president of Red Buck district, greeted the audience with appropriate words of welcome and also spoke in appreciation of work done by the Scoutmasters. C. E. Hawkins introduced members of the court and charging of the Scouts was ably done by Rev. S. Hummon of Rapid River.

Tenderfoot rank was accorded Gildo Maule, Donald LaMaide and Wm. E. Dusterhoff Jr., Hermansville. Stuart Jensen of Escanaba and Joseph Sanford of Rapid River by Rev. Charles Swanson of Hermansville.

Second class recognition went to Robert Houle and Richard Maynard, Escanaba; Donald Larson, Bark River; Emil Ayyotte Jr., George Farley Jr., Ralph LaFave and Melvin Paquette, Hermansville; Dallas Wixom and William Rockburg, Gladstone; and Don Lancour, Henry Gray, George Babladelis and John Reque of Manistique with S. N. Bradford presiding.

Eleven boys received First class rank. They were Bob St. Martin, Richard Wohlen, Robert Frazer and Duaine Bernard, Escanaba; David Larson, Hermansville, and Iggy Babladelis, Ronald Norton, Hermansville.

At Gathering Here
Thursday

A plea for special consideration of the veteran whose experiences in the war may have made him temporarily unstable, was voiced by Major Addison Alguire, of the Michigan Office of Veteran Affairs at a meeting of the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Association held at the parlors of the First Methodist church Thursday noon.

He noted with satisfaction that not a single case of rough handling of any veteran by Upper Michigan police officers has come to his attention and added that he wished he could say as much about the vicinity of Detroit.

He also made a plea for more thoughtful and appreciative consideration of the returned veteran. When the first veterans came home, he said, we greeted them with open arms, but now when they are returning in numbers, too many of us are inclined to say "These returned service men are getting to be a problem."

He denounced the attitude which he said was too prevalent at this time—that stay-at-homes who engaged in war work did as much to win the war as did G. I. Joe. That attitude, he said, is retarding our return to peacetime production.

About sixty members of the association, which is made up of state and municipal police, sheriffs, judges, and prosecutors, were present at the meeting, at which Sgt. Kenneth White, president of

Construction Of Big
Addition To Paper Mill
To Begin In Few Weeks

An addition that will provide 30,000 more square feet of floor space and make possible several notable improvements in the general arrangement at the plant, will be built this coming spring and summer at the mill of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company, its manager, R. G. Hentschell announced.

The contract for a 2-story addition 70 x 216 feet, has been let to C. R. Meyer, a contracting firm from Oshkosh, Wis., and it is understood that ground breaking operations will begin in about two weeks. Although delays, due to unforeseen tieups of material, may delay construction, the company hopes to have the addition ready for occupancy in about six months, Mr. Hentschell said.

The extension will be from the northeast end of the finishing room to Houghton avenue. Facilities will be provided for office rooms and storage rooms. The basement will have a paper storage capacity of 1,200 tons and the upper story will hold at least 1,300 tons of paper.

The offices will face South Houghton avenue and be a great improvement over present quarters which are undesirable because of their inaccessibility.

Rerouting of some of the track leading to the building will have to be made but present track facilities will not be changed a great deal.

This will be the first major addition to the plant since its construction in 1917—an improvement that has long been badly needed as the plant has heretofore lacked adequate storage space. It will also take care of the results of the expansion program which has been inaugurated at the mill and serve as a climax to the many improvements that have been made at the mill in the course of the past year.

the association presided. Following the dinner, he turned the meeting over to William J. Sheahan, who served as toastmaster.

Charles D. Manson, city manager, extended official welcome to the visitors and entertainment numbers were provided by Harrison Beach, of Blaney Park, who played the piano and accordion; and Mrs. Elwood Taylor who gave several of her popular Swedish dialect readings.

CLOTHES DRIVE
IS COMPLETEDChairman Thanks Those Who Helped Make
Effort Success

Gratification for the fine cooperation shown, in spite of the acute shortage of wearing apparel that confronts people here in America, was expressed by Charles D. Manson, chairman of the recently completed used clothing drive.

While the amount of clothing received is under the amount donated last year, the quality of the goods received has been very good, Mr. Manson says.

The drive, which had for its purpose the collection of used clothing to be donated to people of the war torn areas of Europe, was sponsored by the Manistique Elks lodge. The collection, sorting and packing of the clothing was done by members of the city fire department, who, the chairman says, are to be commended for performing a splendid service.

Eighteen boxes of clothing are being shipped from here as a result of the drive. The shipment includes 925 items of wearing apparel, 120 pairs of shoes, 12 pieces of bedding and other miscellaneous items.

ORIGIN OF GLASS CLINKING

The custom of clinking glasses originated in Roman days. Before a duel, each gladiator drank a glass of wine and, to guard against a poison being slipped into one of the glasses, it became a custom for the fighters to touch glasses and pour the wine from one to the other.

There are many mountains on islands in the South Seas that never have been surveyed.

Tired Kidneys
Often Bring
Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 16 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GRADE SCHOOL MEET PLANNED

Silver Skates Offered As Trophy In Rink Event Saturday

A grade school skating meet for all Escanaba grade school youngsters, public and parochial, will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Royce Park rink. The meet is sponsored jointly by the Escanaba Winter Sports Club, Bay de Noc Speed Skating club and the City of Escanaba recreation department.

A trophy, a small sized pair of silver skates mounted in a display case, will be presented to the school winning the greatest number of points in the meet. Points will be awarded for first, second and third places in all events.

Instructions were given to grade school skaters by speed skaters from the Bay de Noc club during the week.

Races will be held in four classes, primary for youngsters up to eight years of age; cradle class for youngsters eight and nine years old; midjets, 10 and 11; and juveniles, 12 and 13. There will be 110 and 220 yard races in each of the primary and cradle classes; 110, 220 and 440 yard races in the midjet and juvenile classes.

BRAVES PLAYING GWINN TONIGHT

Gladstone, Mich. — The Gladstone Braves will play their second game this week tonight when they travel to Gwinnett to tackle Doc Miller's veteran quint in their home lair.

That the game will be tough is conceded by Coach Eldon Keil who points out that his charges will be handicapped by the small floor at Gwinnett and in addition they will be facing a seasoned aggregation which defeated Munising by about the same margin as did the Braves.

Coach Keil said he was not particularly disappointed in the outcome of the Escanaba game for the county seater were really "hot" that evening and their size

Ishpeming's Rebuilt Suicide Hill Beckons 300-Foot Record Ski Jump

BY EDDIE McKENNA
NEA Special Correspondent
Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 14 (NEA)

Following the national meet at Steamboat Springs, Colo., the country's foremost ski jumpers will spread their wooden wings, Feb. 24, and streak down rebuilt Suicide Hill, a two-in-one slope, in this domain of rugged Norsemens, where the physical equipment beckons a 300-foot leap, golden goal of all contenders.

The national hill record is 289 feet, established in 1942 at nearby Iron Mountain by the smiling Norwegian, Torger Tokle, who gave his life for his adopted land with ski troops in Italy.

In ski-jumping longer than any other community in the nation,

SPECIAL SKI TRAIN
The Chicago & North Western railway has begun an advance sale of tickets for the special train to be run to the Ishpeming ski tournament on Feb. 24. The train will leave Escanaba at 9:40 a. m. and arrive at Ishpeming at 11:30 a. m. Returning, it will leave Ishpeming at 8 p. m. and arrive at Escanaba at 9:40 p. m. The train will start from Green Bay. The advance sale is being made so that the railroad will be able to determine how much equipment will be needed.

Ishpeming's dedication event will be its 59th annual sanctioned tournament.

Two Hills In One
It was here in 1904 that the National Ski Association was born.

was more than the Brave could adequately cope with.

The starting lineup will remain unchanged with Gillis at center, Haglund and Olson at forward and Capt. Engstrom and Olive at guard.

There will be no preliminary.

This year's competition is a prelude to the 1947 national meet, which is to be staged here.

As America's greatest slide outside of some far western mountain slopes, Suicide Hill, previously 240 feet, has had its face lifted. The Ishpeming club, at an outlay of $8,000, raised by natives, moved the scaffold atop the Iron Cliffs Hills, bulldozed in several thousand cubic yards of dirt to build up the landing and now has a glideaway which, on a perfect day, will make that 300-foot jump possible.

Suicide's installation actually is two hills in one. The scaffold and chute are on one hill, and the rider bridges a short gully, which has been filled in, as he leaps into the landing that is the second in the series of hills.

The peak of the tower is 140 feet from the bottom of the initial hill, 429 from the bottom of the landing. The chute itself is 291 feet long.

Engineers maintain a rider flying down an ice chute on a firmly cold day will leave the take-off at 62 miles per hour.

Ski-Jumping Hub
The Ishpeming people haven't made the record too cheaply possible. It will take a great rider under right weather conditions to endanger that mark, but critics insist there's a 300-foot leap tied up in Suicide Hill's majestic proportions.

An engineering recapitulation on the hill:
Start of ride to end of runout—944 feet.

Top of chute to bottom of runout—429 feet.

Height of chute—140 feet.

Length of chute—291 feet.

Height from take-off to 300-foot mark—134 feet.

Length from take-off to 300-foot mark—264 feet.

Wherever ski-jumping is known, the name of Ishpeming is prominent, for it has sent more riders to tournaments than any other club in America. Currently, the club has five Class A riders, more in that division than any other. It has two of the finest Class B threats in the country in Joe Perault and Ralph Bietila. It has one of the biggest Class C and junior delegations of the sanctioned group.

Happy landing.

Suicide Hill... two-in-one.

Rock Wins Three Basketball Games At Cooks Tuesday

The Rock high school basketball players went home from Cooks Tuesday evening the victors in all three games played that night.

In the main game the Rock high quintet built up a score of 63 to win over Cooks' 49. The Rock players outclassed Cooks but the two teams made a game with their excellent play.

The main game was preceded by two preliminaries. One was a girls basketball game in which the Rock girls team took the Cooks girls 41 to 32. The high school reserve teams then took the floor and Rock won by a score of 23 to 14.

The box score for the main game was as follows:

SKATING REVUE THRILLS CROWD

Repeat Performances Are Scheduled Tonight, Saturday, Sunday

"Circus on Ice", the sixth annual presentation of the Escanaba Figure Skating Club, opened before a capacity audience at the indoor rink last evening and scored a smash hit. The revue will be presented tonight and Saturday night as well as Sunday afternoon.

From the opening number to the grand finale, "Circus on Ice" thrilled the large crowd, featuring a spectacular array of figure skating talent, colorful scenery, brilliant lighting and the most gorgeous costumes. Despite sub-zero temperature, the opening night patrons thoroughly enjoyed the well planned, delightfully executed performance.

The revue indelibly portrayed the tremendous progress of local figure skaters. Many of the stars of former years are headlined in "Circus on Ice", including such favorites as Tom Schwalbach, Joanne Beck, Maxine Dufour, Mary and Jeanne Groos, Patsy Wicklund, Helen and Howard Dufour, and in addition a number of newcomers in featured roles, among them Jimmy Crestens, Marvin Cartwright, Patsy Saul, Glenna and Billy Falmer, Elaine Beck and Mona Redman, Irma Bartley, Donna Mileski, Janet Adams and Mary Goudreau. Jeanette LeCaptain, director of the revue, also was featured as the ballerina in the "Prancing Throughbreds" number and gave a delightful presentation of her figure skating talent.

Outstanding soloists in the revue, all of whom were generously applauded for sterling performances, were Patsy Saul, Joanne Beck, Patsy Wicklund, Helen Schwalbach, Jeanne Groos and Mary Groos.

The comic act of the show that literally brought down the house was "The Old Grey Mare" as portrayed by John and Gene Hebert.

The most striking presentation of the revue was "The Merry Go Round Fantasy", immediately preceding the grand finale, in which the splendor of black light and special costumes was particularly thrilling.

Contributing immeasurably to the success of the ice revue is the musical accompaniment, featuring Bill Clark on the Hammond organ, installed especially for the revue.

Although reserved seat sections have been sold out for the evening performances, there are many general admission seats available, all offering fine vantage points for the show.

Stephenson Loses To Peshtigo, 41-30

Stephenson — Led by Carter, giant center, Peshtigo defeated Stephenson Eagles here Thursday night by a 41 to 30 score. The victory was the 15th for Peshtigo in the last 18 games.

Peshtigo jumped to a 12 to 10 lead at the quarter. They stretched the lead 22 and 14 at half time and were never seriously threatened thereafter.

Eskymos Meet Menominee In Cage Battle Tonight

The Eskymos basketball team will put their undefeated record on the line for the second time this week when they meet the Menominee Maroons at the junior high school gymnasium this evening. The reserves of the two schools will meet in a 7:30 o'clock preliminary, with the feature game scheduled to follow about 8:45 p. m.

The Eskymos defeated Menominee handsly last month and are top heavy favorites to chalk up their 12th consecutive victory at the expense of the Maroons who have had rather ill luck this season on the basketball court.

The Escanaba team was hot Tuesday night in scoring its second victory over Gladstone and Coach Jim Rouman is fearful that his proteges may let down tonight.

For the Maroons a victory over the unbeaten Eskymos would take the curse off their string of defeats and set them right back in to the forefront of the basketball championship contention.

The starting lineup for the Eskymos is expected to be the same as in previous games this season, with Jack Finn at center, Ohman and Ross, forwards; Scott and Dufour, guards.

The Eskymo Reserves will have Jim Hirn, Piche, Cota, Buckland and R. Johnson in their starting lineup against the Menominee Reserves.

Officials will be Lars Cameron, Gladstone, and Leo Brunelle, Stephenson.

Sharkey Confident He Can Win 160 Lb. Title

Two Upper Peninsula boxers will compete in the final round of the Milwaukee zone Golden Gloves championships tonight at the Milwaukee auditorium.

Leonard Sharkey, popular Manistique Indian middleweight, will meet Roy Schultz, Waukesha negro lad, in the finals of the 160 pound open division. Dwight Meyers, of Escanaba, who drew a bye Tuesday night, will probably be paired against James Becker, of the Charles Lubotsky Athletic club, Milwaukee, in a semi-final bout. Becker won on a default Tuesday night.

Sharkey is matched with one of the toughest lads in the Milwaukee tournament in the middleweight finals tonight, but the cool, confident Indian lad who saw Schultz in action Tuesday is convinced that he can lick Schultz. Sharkey has been working out at the Golden Gloves gym in Milwaukee while awaiting the Friday night finals. Meyers also has been keeping in shape with daily workouts at the Golden Gloves gym.

The Manistique Indian drew the admiration of the fight fans Tuesday night when he came back after a slow start in the first round to win his match decisively. He will have a large section of Milwaukee fans yelling for him tonight in the finals against Schultz.

Meyers, a southpaw with a strong right jab, is the remaining Escanaba battler still in contention at the Milwaukee tournament.

If he wins his first bout tonight, he will move to the finals which will be held later in the evening.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Upper Peninsula novice fighters showed the effects of insufficient training when they competed in the Milwaukee zone semi-finals of the Golden Gloves tournament Tuesday night at the Milwaukee Auditorium. The peninsula lads were courageous enough but they had only a little more than a month's training while the Milwaukee lads have been working out regularly since last October.

Bob Provo, Escanaba featherweight, had the misfortune to get clipped with a terrific right to the button early in the first round in his fight with Richard Voelkel, of the Milwaukee Harvesters club. It was a clean knockout that came something as a surprise as Provo had not been in any trouble up to that point and had landed a few good blows of his own. Don Little Escanaba lightweight, put up a great scrap with Walter Geers, of Milwaukee, but Geers, a southpaw with a longer reach, baffled the Escanaba redhead because of his unorthodox style.

Ray Sabuco, Escanaba middleweight, ran into one of the toughest punchers in the novice class in his bout with Richard Thelen, of West Allis. Sabuco went the route and was never knocked down, but absorbed a lot of hard hit blows. Later Thelen came back to pummel George Marinkovich, also of West Allis. Marinkovich was knocked down three times during the battle and was saved from a knockout by the bell in the second round. Thelen undoubtedly could have finished him off in the last round but chose to play it safe after building a wide lead on points.

Jimmy LaLonde, of the Soo, fighting in the novice welterweight class, put up a great fight with Ed Wagner of Manitowish before LaLonde was knocked out in the second round. The boys traded blow for blow in a furious battle, but Wagner was stronger and finally rocked LaLonde heavily in the second round. The Soo lad was knocked down several times, but came up punching. Finally a left jab followed by a terrific right cross to the face sent him down for the count. Robert Barnes, Manistique heavyweight, also ran afoul of a powerful puncher in James Dawson of Green Bay and was knocked out in one minute, 50 seconds of the opening round.

The peninsula's two open division fighters, Leonard Sharkey, of Manistique, and Jim Hubbard, of the Soo, showed up impressively at Milwaukee. Sharkey started slowly in his fight with Bob Wheaton, of Montello, and was slightly behind at the end of the first round. The Manistique Indian moved into high gear in the second round, however, and gave Wheaton a good boxing lesson the rest of the way. Hubbard lost to Dick Murphy, popular Milwaukee welterweight, but it was the best fight of the night and the crowd gave both lads a roaring cheer.

Hubbard took the first round, but was edged out slightly in the final two rounds. It was a very close scrap featured by some spirited punch trading.

Two upper peninsula lads will be in action tonight in the final rounds of the Milwaukee Golden Gloves competition. Dwight Meyers, Escanaba novice welterweight, drew a bye Tuesday night and will fight tonight in the semi-finals of his weight class. If he wins he will fight a second time tonight in the finals. Leonard Sharkey is already in the finals of the 160 open division and will meet Roy Schultz, colored lad of Waukesha's Boss school, for the championship.

Sharkey is confident that he can whip Schultz and will have his teammates present to cheer him on.

SHIP CLOTHING GIVEN IN DELTA

Victory Clothing Drive Brings More Than 6,000 Pounds

More than 6,000 pounds of clothing contributed by the people of Delta county in the Victory Clothing Collection yesterday was started on its way to aid the destitute in the war-torn countries of the world, it was announced by C. P. Titus, general chairman of the clothing collection drive.

Titus reported that a total of 6,243 pounds of clothing, including 29 two-bushels bags of shoes and rubbers, and estimated 4,000 garments, 100 pieces of bedding, and about 2,000 miscellaneous items such as gloves, scarves, hats and stockings were in the shipment.

The Victory Clothing Collection, which is being conducted on a national scale, will provide used clothing from Americans as a gift to the men, women and children in countries of Europe and Asia who are suffering from the winter's cold. Included in the shipment of clothing from Delta county were approximately 200 good-will letters from school children and adults to the people who will receive the clothing.

The shipment was consigned to the Weight Transfer company at Green Bay, designated a receiving center by the Procurement Division of the U. S. Treasury, on the first leg of its journey overseas.

Hundreds of persons assisted in the success of the Victory Clothing Collection drive. Mrs. Joseph Ambrose was in charge of sorting and packing. Atty. Harland Yelland directed the collection, publicity and progress was handled by Bert Henne and Wallace Cameron, and shipping by Elmer Swanson.

Chairman Titus yesterday expressed his appreciation to the people of the county for their generous response to the appeal for clothing. He said that both the volume and the quality of the contributions were satisfactory, and that practically all of the garments received were usable.

"To those who contributed clothing to the chairman and members of the committee, and to all who assisted in the 1946 Victory Clothing Collection I extend my sincere appreciation," Titus said.

GOVERNOR WRITES

I have learned with a great deal of interest of the campaign being carried on in Delta County to raise funds to meet the operating expenses of the Office of Veterans' Affairs in Escanaba. Permit me to express my admiration of the public-spirited movement to provide for veterans returning to civilian life the counseling service for which they have such definite need.

I have intimate first-hand knowledge of the benefits of such services to returning veterans, and it is for that reason that I want to express my sincere hope that your campaign will be a complete success.

Sincerely,
Harry J. Kelly
Governor

Development Bureau Will Attend Shows

Marquette—George Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, announces that the Bureau will be represented at outdoor and travel shows at the Coliseum in Chicago, Feb. 22-March 3; Cleveland Auditorium, March 1-10; Detroit Convention Hall, March 9-17; Chicago Stadium, March 15-23; Milwaukee Auditorium, March 30-April 7; Chicago, Stevens Hotel, April 10-15. Members of the Bureau staff will be at each show to give information and pass out literature on the Upper Peninsula communities and resorts. Resort operators, Chambers of Commerce, or officials of any community will be welcomed at these shows to help sell the public on visiting the Upper Peninsula. Literature shipped to the Bureau in care of the shows will be distributed.

MAKE MOVIE AT MACKINAC ISLE

Hollywood Stars And Big
Cast Will Be There
Next Summer

Winter sequences for a moving picture which will include Hollywood stars Esther Williams and Van Johnson in its cast are being filmed at Mackinac Island now, and next summer the stars and a cast of 200 will be at the island for completion of location shooting.

W. S. Woodfill, proprietor-manager of the Grand Hotel at Mackinac Island said the hotel will be host to the cast next summer, and that at present the hotel will not be opened for the shooting of exterior winter sequences.

Included in the cast of the picture which has been tentatively titled "This Time for Keeps" besides Esther Williams and Van Johnson are Jimmy Durante, Lauritz Melchior, Jose Iturbi, Xavier Cugat and his orchestra and Johnny Johnson. The stars and about 200 other persons will be at the island from July 12 to about mid-August.

Doubles and crew of the company which has arrived at the island via the Soo Line train number about 26 persons. They were taken by bus from Rudyard to St. Ignace and thence by boat to the island. They will be there for about three weeks, and then will return about June 10 to 22 (illegible time on the island) to film additional scenes prior to the main shooting which will begin in summertime.

Woodfill recently wrote newspapers in Michigan requesting publication of a request for an old-fashioned fancy sleigh, which will be used in the scenes being filmed this winter. The Grand Hotel will be featured as color and background for the winter outdoor sequences.
